

COLLECTION

Do you remember when works of art could only be seen in museums?

We present a different way of enjoying art.

This is the slogan we have chosen for the launch of our new fabric collection.

It is a collection of 12 drawings inspired by some of the great pictorial works of all times, as well as others inspired by different vanguards of art and design, all of them captured by the artist José Azorin, in collaboration with the Fama design team.

- Gustav Klimt
- Las Meninas by Velazquez
- El Bosco's Garden of Earthly Delights
- Picasso's Guernica
- Gioconda by Leonardo Da Vinci
- The work of Miró
- The Surrealism of Salvador Dalí
- Picasso's Cubism
- The Post-Impressionism of Toulouse-Lautrec
- The Bauhaus movement
- The work of Paul Klee
- Dadaism

The main idea underlying this collection is our intention to bring art closer to homes and turn it into something dynamic and alive, so that everyone can enjoy it at home.

When we started the project, we did not think it could be so successful. The result has been extraordinary. These "interpretations" of great works are true works of art in themselves, and impress everyone.

Therefore, to value these works we could not simply present the fabric collection based on them, we had to try to convey the idea of enjoying art in a different way, not only looking at the paintings, but transferring that art to upholstered pieces, sofas and armchairs, fusing art and design in such a way that you can enjoy looking at an armchair turned into a unique sculptural piece, and, of course, you can also enjoy sitting on it.
